Tie Breaker for League Champions:

1. Head-to-head (who has won more games in the DIRECT matches between the two opponents tied for points; example if they met 3 times and 2 games were tied then the team that won the third game is considered ahead)
2. Least goals against (we try to discourage teams from running up the scores hence why maximum recorded goal difference is 5 for example a 7-0 result is recorded as 5-0 and in case of a tie after head-to-head the factor we consider first instead of goal difference is which team allowed fewer goals against them in their net)
3. If teams are still tied only then we look at GD.
4. If still tied then as in most other leagues the BOARD will decide if a coin toss, PKs, or a game between the two teams will determine the League Champion.

Note: other tie breakers that don't have an impact on League champion for example a tie between 3rd and 4th are based on same formula, but computer will decide and at the end of the day is irrelevant because team's seeding in Playoffs guarantees everyone equal fair chances because it's based on round robin formula.

Thank you.
